Notes:-

In a steep hillside position with side to road.

Construction of church hall 1904-6, church completed 1913-15. Designed by E. Bruce Vaughan, architect of Cardiff. Geometric Gothic.

Chancel flanked by lower vestries, north transept, aisled nave with north-west porch. Church hall under. Snecked rubble, freestone dressings including banding, slate roofs with crucifix finials. West front with grouped, traceried windows of two and three lights between buttresses. South aisle gabled front with twin Geometric windows under quatrefoil oculus. Parapetted gables, pilaster buttresses to clerestory with traceried lights, bar tracery to aisles, linked hoodmoulds. Gabled north-west porch with paterae on Gothic moulding of arched entrance, boarded doors. Second pointed doorway in angle of transept. Plain two-light windows to basement (church hall), rubble retaining walls, piers and area railings set high at road level with flying platforms to upper doors.

Three-light transept windows with taller octagonal stair turret clasping east angle, panelled canopies with cusped bell-openings. Flying buttresses over low vestry and porch to east wall, five-light traceried window with impaled trefoils, lateral doorway reached by steps up.

Well-proportioned three-bay interior, round piers, head-stops to hoodmoulds. Paired clerestory windows with shafts to rereaches. Tall chancel arch on respond shafts with foliage capitals at cill based level. Tall north arch for organ, boarded ceiling under, screens to side chapels. Panelled sedilia. Ribbed and boarded wagon roofs to centre and south aisles, lean-to north aisle roof.
